Strategic report

For the financial year ended 31 December 2024

Introduction

The directors present their Strategic Report for the year ended 31 December 2024.

Principal activities

Stripe Payments UK Ltd (the "Company") is a wholly owned subsidiary of Stripe Payments Europe Limited, whose ultimate parent company is Stripe, Inc., a Company incorporated in the United States of America.

Stripe, Inc., and its subsidiaries (collectively the 'Stripe Group') is an Irish-American Technology group that builds economic infrastructure for the internet. Businesses ("users" or "merchants") of every size, from new start-ups to public companies, use Stripe's technology to accept online payments and run technically sophisticated financial operations globally. Stripe helps new users get started and grow their revenues, and established users accelerate into new markets and launch new business models. Over the long term, Stripe aims to increase the gross domestic product of the internet.

Certain services offered by the Stripe Group in the UK and Europe are services that may only be provided by an e-money institution ("authorised payment and e-money services"). The principal activity of the Company is to provide authorised payment and e-money services to certain Stripe users. The Company also provides marketing and support services and research and development services to related parties.

The Company is authorised as an Electronic Money Institution, under Regulation 9 of the European Communities (Electronic Money) Regulations 2011, by the Financial Conduct Authority and is required to comply with Financial Conduct Authority regulatory requirements including capital and liquidity requirements. As an Electronic Money Institution, the Company actively manages and safeguards user funds, and manages its corporate funds to ensure it meets its capital and liquidity requirements.

Business review

Company turnover has increased by £197,625,529 during the financial year from £698,824,563 in 2023, to £896,450,092 in 2024. This is mainly as a result of an increase in processing related activity during the year.

Principal risks and uncertainties

The directors consider that the principal risks and uncertainties faced by the Company are in the following categories:

Competition risk

As the Company expands to new markets and new segments, its competitive landscape continues to evolve. Competition could result in reduced market share and result in a reduction in demand for the Company's services. Management closely monitors progress against the business strategic plan, with weekly oversight and regular business reviews. Additional areas of focus are close attention to market research, benchmarking with competition, and recruitment of highly skilled professional staff. Status is regularly reported to and considered by the board.

Credit risk

Credit risk is the risk of financial loss due to the failure of a customer or counterparty to meet its obligation to settle outstanding amounts or the non-delivery of goods/ services. The key sources of credit risk are counterparty/ merchant failure, exposure to default and credit/ fraud losses. The Company has a number of controls in place to adequately manage their exposure to credit risk and to counterparty risk including regular credit risk portfolio modelling and reviews, ongoing monitoring and mitigation of large exposures management of credit decisions, financial risk assessment of new financial partners and ongoing monitoring of same. Management maintains oversight on the status of credit and counterparty risks noting that the Company does not ultimately bear these risks.

Strategic report

Cyber risk

The Company is exposed to the risk of operational disruption, customer detriment, data loss/privacy, financial loss and/or reputational damage arising from cyber-attacks that may result in unauthorised access, or denial of access, to Stripe systems and information. The Company manages this risk through a range of controls including but not limited to system monitoring and alerts, staff awareness training, customer support, incident management guidelines and runbooks and system lifecycle management.

Regulatory risk

Regulatory risk is the risk of failing to meet regulator expectations for an authorised Electronic Money Institution and failing to comply to financial services laws, rules, regulations, codes of conduct, regulatory and industry guidance. This would include failing to engage in an open and cooperative manner with regulators, the risk of suffering legal or regulatory sanctions, the risk of financial losses and the risk of reputational damage. The Company manages compliance with its regulatory obligations through a combination of appropriate staff training, procedures, policies, frameworks, risk assessments, horizon scanning and monitoring.

Operational risk

Operational risk is the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed processes, people (management), systems or from external events. It includes but is not limited to business continuity and resilience, outsourcing and people risk. Management has implemented a range of controls and programs to manage operational risk, with regular management and board reporting in place on status and progress.

Financial crimes risk

Financial crimes risk includes risks associated with money laundering, fraud, sanctions, terrorist financing and bribery and corruption. The Money Laundering Reporting Officer for the Company works with management on an ongoing basis to implement a range of controls and programs to manage financial crimes risk and address associated regulatory obligations with regular management and board reporting in place on status and progress.

Safeguarding risk

Safeguarding risk is the risk of the failure to appropriately safeguard user assets as a result of funds being held in accounts without the appropriate safeguarding protections. Should accounts holding user assets not have the appropriate protections, in a wind down scenario, user funds will not be protected and result in severe customer harm as funds will be allocated as corporate rather than user assets. Ensuring that the appropriate protections are in place for safeguarding purposes is a regulatory requirement and where this is not in place is a breach of regulation which could result in financial/non-financial penalties. The Company manages this risk through a range of controls including reviews of safeguarding accounts and sweeps, reconciliations, KPIs, counterparty risk reviews and reviews of banking partners.

Going concern

The directors have a reasonable expectation that the Company has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. Together with the strong financial position and a letter of comfort from its ultimate parent Company, the directors believe that the Company is well placed to manage its business risks successfully and are satisfied that the Company has, and will maintain sufficient financial resources to enable it to continue operating in the foreseeable future. The letter of comfort confirms the intention to support the Company's operations and to help the Company meet its obligations as they fall due for at least the next 12 months from the date of this report. Therefore, these entity financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis. Further details regarding the adoption of the going concern basis can be found in the statement of accounting policies in the financial statements (Note 3).

Statement of directors' responsibilities

The directors are responsible for preparing the Directors' report, Strategic Report and the Financial Statements in accordance with applicable law and regulations.

Company law requires the directors to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under that law the directors have elected to prepare the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice), including Financial Reporting Standard 102 The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland.

Under company law the directors must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Company and of the profit or loss of the Company for that period.

In preparing these financial statements, the directors are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and accounting estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- state whether applicable Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- assess the company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern; and
- use the going concern basis of accounting unless they either intend to liquidate the company or to cease operations or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

The directors are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the Company's transactions and disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for such controls as they determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and have general responsibility for taking such steps as are reasonably open to them to safeguard the assets of the Company and to prevent and detect fraud and other irregularities.

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Stripe Payments UK Ltd ('the Company') for the year ended 31 December 2024 which comprise the profit and loss account, the statement of financial position, the statement of changes in equity and the related notes 1 to 23, including a summary of significant accounting policies. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards FRS 102 "The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland" (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the Company's affairs as at 31 December 2024 and of its profit for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of 12 months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the directors with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report. However, because not all future events or conditions can be predicted, this statement is not a guarantee as to the Company's ability to continue as a going concern.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. The directors are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF STRIPE PAYMENTS UK LTD

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in this report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of the other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinions on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- the information given in the strategic report and the directors' report for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements; and
- the strategic report and directors' report have been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the Company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the strategic report or directors' report.

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of directors' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit.

Responsibilities of directors

As explained more fully in the statement of directors' responsibilities set out on page 12, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the directors determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the directors either intend to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT TO THE MEMBERS OF STRIPE PAYMENTS UK LTD

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Explanation as to what extent the audit was considered capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect irregularities, including fraud. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement due to fraud is higher than the risk of not detecting one resulting from error, as fraud may involve deliberate concealment by, for example, forgery or intentional misrepresentations, or through collusion. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below. However, the primary responsibility for the prevention and detection of fraud rests with both those charged with governance of the entity and management.

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the Company and determined that the most significant are the Electronic Money Regulations 2011 by the Financial Conduct Authority and Companies Act 2006 in the United Kingdom.
- We understood how Stripe Payments UK Ltd is complying with those frameworks by making inquiries of key management, and those responsible for legal and compliance matters. We have also reviewed correspondence between the Company and regulatory bodies; reviewed minutes of the Board; and gained an understanding of the Company's governance framework.
- We assessed the susceptibility of the Company's financial statements to material misstatement, including how fraud might occur by holding discussions with key management. We also reviewed the Company's fraud-related policies.
- Based on this understanding we designed our audit procedures to identify noncompliance with such laws and regulations. Our procedures involved inquiry of key management, review of the key policies and correspondence exchanged with regulators.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at <https://www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities>. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Going concern

The directors have a reasonable expectation that the Company has adequate resources to continue in operational existence for the foreseeable future. Together with the strong financial position and a letter of comfort from its ultimate parent company, the directors believe that the Company is well placed to manage its business risks successfully and are satisfied that the Company has, and will maintain sufficient financial resources to enable it to continue operating in the foreseeable future. The letter of comfort confirms the intention to support the Company's operations and to help the Company meet its obligations as they fall due for at least the next 12 months from the date of this report. Therefore, these entity financial statements have been prepared on a going concern basis.

3.2 Turnover

Turnover represents the invoiced amount in respect of authorised payment services, marketing and support services, and research and development services provided to affiliate entities within the Stripe Group during the year. Revenue is recognised as the service is provided.

3. Accounting policies (continued)

3.3 Interest receivable and similar income

Interest income is recognised in the profit and loss account using the effective interest method.

3.4 Interest payable and similar expenses

Interest payable and similar costs are charged to the profit and loss account over the term of the debt using the effective interest method so that the amount charged is at a constant rate on the carrying amount. Issue costs are initially recognised as a reduction in the proceeds of the associated capital instrument.

3.5 Operating leases: the company as lessee

Operating leases do not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership to the lessee. Payments under operating leases are recognised in the profit and loss account on a straight-line basis over the term of the lease. The company has included a leasehold refurbishment provision for the anticipated cost of returning the premises to its original state. This asset is depreciated over the lease life of 5 years, using the straight-line method.

3.6 Foreign currency

The Company's functional and presentational currency is Pound Sterling, denominated by the symbol "£" unless otherwise stated.

Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the spot exchange rates at the dates of the transactions.

At each period-end foreign currency monetary items are translated using the closing rate. Non-monetary items measured at historical cost are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction and non-monetary items measured at fair value are measured using the exchange rate when fair value was determined.

Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of transactions and from the translation at period-end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in the profit and loss account.

All foreign exchange gains and losses are presented in the profit and loss account within 'administrative expenses'.

3.7 Current and deferred taxation

Income tax expense for the year comprises current and deferred tax recognised in the year. Income tax expense is presented in the same component of total comprehensive income (profit and loss account or other comprehensive income) or equity as the transaction or other event that resulted in the income tax expense. Current or deferred tax assets and liabilities are not discounted.

Current tax

Current tax is the amount of income tax payable in respect of the taxable profit for the year or past years. Current tax is measured at the amount of current tax that is expected to be paid using tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of the year.

The directors periodically evaluate positions taken in tax returns with respect to situations in which applicable tax regulation is subject to interpretation. A current tax liability is recognised where appropriate and measured on the basis of amounts expected to be paid to the tax authorities.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is recognised in respect of timing differences, which are differences between taxable profits and total comprehensive income as stated in the financial statements. These timing differences arise from the inclusion of income and expenses in tax assessments in years different from those in which they are recognised in financial statements.

Deferred tax is recognised on all timing differences at the end of each year with certain exceptions. Unrelieved tax losses and other deferred tax assets are recognised only when it is probable that they will be recovered against the reversal of deferred tax liabilities or other future taxable profits.

Deferred tax is measured using tax rates and laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the end of each year end and that are expected to apply to the reversal of the timing difference.

In 2021, the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development ("OECD") established an inclusive framework on base erosion and profit shifting including a global minimum effective corporate tax rate of 15% for certain large multinational companies, referred to as Pillar Two. The inclusive framework calls for tax law changes by participating countries that began to take effect in 2024.

The Company operates in the United Kingdom where applicable tax law changes on Pillar Two implementation have been enacted and is effective January 1, 2024. The Company concluded there was no material impact to the tax provision for the year ended December 31, 2024. The Company continues to monitor and assess the developments and implications surrounding changes in the global tax environment, including Pillar Two. The Company has applied the mandatory temporary exemption from recognising and disclosing information about deferred tax assets and liabilities related to Pillar Two taxes, as in line with FRS 102 section 29 - Income Tax.

3.8 Tangible assets

Tangible assets are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses. Cost includes the original purchase price, costs directly attributable to bringing the asset to the location and condition necessary for its intended use, applicable dismantling, removal and restoration costs and borrowing costs capitalised.

Fixtures and fittings, computer equipment and leasehold property improvements

Fixtures and fittings, computer equipment and leasehold property improvements are carried at cost less accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment losses.

Depreciation

Depreciation on other assets is calculated, using the straight-line method over their estimated useful lives.

The estimated useful lives range as follows:

- Leasehold improvements - 5 years
- Fixtures and fittings - 3 years
- Office equipment - 2 years

The assets' residual values and useful lives are reviewed, and adjusted, if appropriate, at the end of each year. The effect of any change in either residual values or useful lives is accounted for prospectively.

3.9 Impairment of non-financial assets

At the end of each financial year non-financial assets not carried at fair value are assessed to determine whether there is an indication that the asset (or asset's cash-generating unit) may be impaired. If there is such an indication the recoverable amount of the asset (or asset's cash-generating unit) is estimated.

3.10 Financial instruments

The Company only enters into basic financial instruments transactions that result in the recognition of financial assets and liabilities like trade and other accounts receivable / payable and basic debt instruments. Basic debt instruments are measured at fair value through the profit and loss ('FVTPL'). All other financial assets such as trade and other accounts receivable are measured at amortised cost.

For financial assets measured at cost less impairment, the impairment loss is measured as the difference between an asset's carrying amount and best estimate of the collectible amount, which is an approximation of the amount that the Company would receive for the asset if it were to be sold at the reporting date.

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the statement of financial position when there is an enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

Impairment of financial assets

The Company recognises an impairment allowance on all financial assets at amortised cost. The company's financial assets comprise of settlement receivables, amount due from group undertakings and cash balance, which are either receivable on demand or within 30 days of the invoice date.

The carrying amount of the financial asset is reduced by the impairment allowance for losses. Changes in the carrying amount of the impairment allowance for losses is recognised in the profit and loss account. When the Company has no reasonable expectations of recovering a financial asset in its entirety or a portion thereof, the same is reduced directly from the gross carrying amount of the financial asset with a corresponding release from the impairment allowance for losses.

If an impairment loss subsequently reverses, the carrying amount of the asset is increased to the revised estimate of its recoverable amount, but not in excess of the amount that would have been determined had no impairment loss been recognised for the asset in prior years. A reversal of an impairment loss is recognised immediately in the profit and loss account.

3.11 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash is represented by cash in hand and deposits with financial institutions repayable without penalty on notice of not more than 24 hours. Cash equivalents are highly liquid investments that mature in no more than three months from the date of acquisition and that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash with insignificant risk of change in value.

3.12 Merchant settlement assets and liabilities

Merchant settlement assets represent assets underlying balances owed to merchants, the principal components of which are cash held for the benefit of merchants in segregated bank accounts, amounts due from card associations and payment providers and basic debt instruments measured at FVTPL. Merchant settlement liabilities represent balances owed to merchants based on transaction amounts, less revenue earned by the Company. Merchant settlement liabilities include certain merchant-owed amounts held in reserve based on a merchant's credit and payment history, and the risks associated with their business.

3.13 Share capital presented as equity

Equity shares issued are recognised at the proceeds received and presented as share capital and share premium.

3.14 Employee benefits

The Company provides a range of benefits to employees, including short term employee benefits.

Short term employee benefits

Short term employee benefits, including wages and salaries, paid holiday arrangements and other similar non-monetary benefits, are recognised as an expense in the year in which employees render the related service. An expense is recognised in the Statement of Comprehensive Income when the Company has a present legal or constructive obligation to make payments under the plan as a result of past events and a reliable estimate of the obligation can be made.

Defined contribution plans

Qualifying employees of the Company are members of the Company's defined contribution plan, which operates a defined contribution pension scheme. The funds attributable to the scheme are administered by the trustees and are independent from the Company's finances. The amounts charged as expenditure for the defined contribution plan are the contributions payable by the Company for the relevant period.

3. Accounting policies (continued)

3.15 Provisions for liabilities

Provisions are made where an event has taken place that gives the Company a legal or constructive obligation that probably requires settlement by a transfer of economic benefit, and a reliable estimate can be made of the amount of the obligation.

Provisions are charged as an expense to profit and loss account in the year that the company becomes aware of the obligation and are measured at the best estimate at the Statement of financial position date of the expenditure required to settle the obligation, taking into account relevant risks and uncertainties.

When payments are eventually made, they are charged to the provision carried in the statement of financial position.

3.16 Share Based Payments

Share-based payment awards granted to employees, including stock options and restricted stock units ("RSUs"), are measured based on fair value at the grant date, with the resulting expense recognized in the profit and loss account over the period during which the employee is required to perform service in exchange for the award. Stripe, Inc., determines its common stock valuation quarterly, and when awards are granted or revalued between the dates of common stock valuation reports, the Company generally uses a straight-line calculation between the two valuation dates for purposes of valuing share-based payment awards. The Company uses the accelerated attribution method to recognize expense for awards with service-based vesting conditions.

4. Turnover

Turnover represents the invoiced amount in respect of authorised payment services, marketing and support services, and research and development services provided to affiliate entities within the Stripe Group, during the year.
